adhaan story

adhaan story

After the migration of Muslims to Madina, they felt the need to find a way to inform people to come to prayer.

One day, the Blessed Prophet asked the Muslims about a way to call all everyone to salah five times a day.

"We could use a horn," some suggested.

"What about using a bell to call Muslims," suggested others.

But the Prophet PBUH didn't like those ideas.

adhaan story

The next morning while the Prophet was sitting in the masjid with his friends, A man called Abdullah ibn Zaid walked in,

"Last night I saw a dream, a beautiful dream.

"I saw in my dream, a man,

He said, "Let me teach you something better than a bell"

I said; 'Please do, May Allah bless you!'

He said, 'You say loudly:

What is adhaan?

What is adhaan?

The adhaan is the call to Salah.

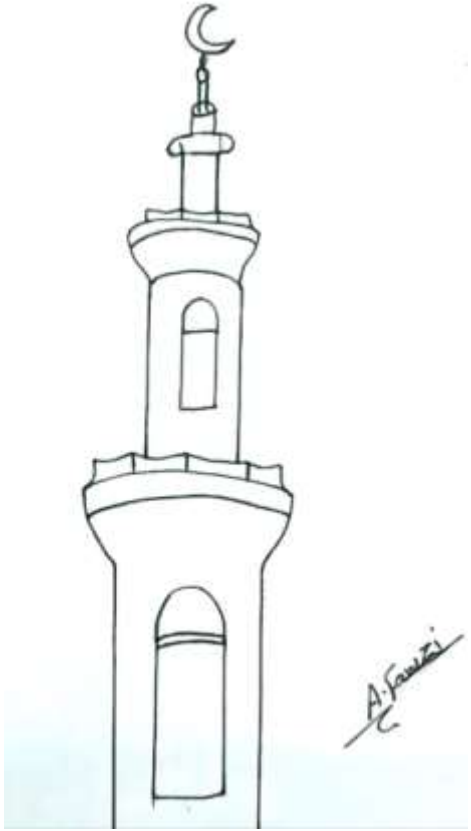

When we hear the adhaan, we know the time for Salah has set in.

The person who recites the adhaan loudly is known as the mu'adhdhin.

The first mu'adhdhin in Islam was Bilal Bin Rabah.

Let’s draw my little artists

الله أكبر

03

How do we respond the adhaan?

How do we respond the adhaan?

Anyone who hears the adhaan should repeat the same, sentence by sentence, After the Mu'adhdhin has recited them, but when the Mu'adhdhin says the words:

حي على الصلاة حي على الصلاة

حي على الفلاح حي على الفلاح

The person hearing the Adhan should say:

لا حول ولا قوة إلا بالله

Du’aa after adhaan

اللهم رب هذه الدعوة التامة والصلاة القائمة,

آت محمداً الوسيلة والفضيلة,

وابعثه مقاماً محموداً الذي وعدته,

إنك لا تخلف الميعاد
